DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Claims 17-29 have been examined.

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the “at least one deflector is a comb having teeth assigned to said spur needles.”; as been claimed in claim 21 must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

In the specification, page 7; delete “, in” by the end of each figure’s description.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 17-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jackson et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,843,763) in view of Bullen et al. (U.S. Patent No. 4,445,881).

Jackson discloses the claimed folding apparatus as disclosed in Fig. 2 except of the deflector on spur cylinder nor the means for moving the deflector. However, Bullen discloses a similar folding apparatus comprising the teaching of using deflector extends radially outwardly beyond the cylinder and means of moving the deflector as shown in Fig. 3; via 38.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Jackson’s folding apparatus by using a deflector, as suggested by Bullen, in order to lift the web sections off the cylinder to avoid jam (column 3, lines 18-20).

Art Unit: 3721

Regarding claim 18: Bullen discloses that the deflector is retracted and extended in respect to a transfer gap, see for example Fig. 3; via the gap between the cylinders and cam 46.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Jackson's folding apparatus by using a retracted and extended deflector, as suggested by Bullen, in order to lift the web sections off the cylinder to avoid jam (column 3, lines 18-20).

Regarding claim 20: Bullen discloses that the cylinder 16 has an axis of rotation and the deflector 38 extends parallel to the axis of rotation via the thickness of the roller.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Jackson's folding apparatus by using a deflector parallel to the axis of rotation of the cylinder, as suggested by Bullen, in order to lift the web sections off the cylinder to avoid jam (column 3, lines 18-20).

Regarding claim 26: Bullen discloses that the deflector discloses an incline face via side portions of the roller 38.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Jackson's folding apparatus by using a deflector with incline face, as suggested by Bullen, in order to lift the web sections off the cylinder to avoid jam (column 3, lines 18-20).

Claim 21 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the applied references as applied to claim 17 above, and further in view of Steen et al. (U.S. Patent No. 2,775,171).

Art Unit: 3721

Jackson in view of Bullen does not disclose the deflector having teeth assigned to the spur needles. However, Steen discloses a similar folding apparatus with the use of toothed rollers/wheels to be assigned to the needles as disclosed in Fig. 1; via at the toothed rollers 72 and 73 and rollers 103 and 154.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Jackson in view of Bullen's folding apparatus by using a toothed assigned to the spur needles, as suggested by Steen, in order to control the speed of the roller and the folding operation more efficient.
